'everything for the professional renewables installer'

You already know what a great product an air source heat pump is.

Your customers know that they get free heat, generated out of fresh air and that the government will give them thousands of pounds to install a heat pump.

They know that a heat pump is very simple to install, it's just like a fridge and never goes wrong.

But, are your customers put off buying a heat pump because it doesn't match their house?

We can now offer a unique, bespoke wrapping service that allows a heat pump to blend in with any property in any situation.

In conjunction with our new partner the Hungry Hippo Heat Pump Company[®], heat pump wrapping is a low cost way to add value to the service you offer.†

Increase your sales by offering something that none of your competitors can give.

We can guarantee that using our bespoke wrapping service your heat pump install will be almost invisible as these pictures demonstrate.
